*Price to Compare is for informational purposes only, and does not constitute an offer or binding agreement between any parties. No savings over the utility rate is implied or guaranteed. Natural gas pricing will fluctuate with changes in the market and are based on generalized gas consumption profile. Your price could be higher or lower, and will only be determined after a customized price quote has been completed based on your specific gas consumption profile. Volatility in the natural gas market to the New Jersey area and variations in your specific gas consumption profile, can and will lead to different pricing being offered than is displayed on this site.
